What's Garnet or Gray, Burgundy or Brown... and Green All Over?

At Acme Brick Company we know that being green is just good business. If a company is striving for peak efficiency, and for long-term success, that company must be earth friendly. Long before ecology was in the news, Acme invested in expensive but highly energy-efficient kilns. And after Acme removes all the clay from a raw material site, reclamation efforts begin. During Acme's 104 year history, these efforts have resulted in twelve lakes which provide beautiful wildlife habitat. And throughout our company recycling is saving money while benefiting our environment. Brick is one of the world's most ecologically sound building materials, and we produce our entire palette of brick colors with the environment in mind. Acme Brick, from the Earth, for the Earth.

Looking to the Future

TEXAS SOCIETY OF ARCHITECTS is a leading state professional association, leading architects and society in new endeavors and methods to new horizons as our society nears a new millennium. Embedded in the new is a solid foundation of principles that stand the test of time: service, integrity, community, and design. Architecture isn't just about buildings and places, it encompasses people, their way of life, methods of construction, urban issues, problem solving, and many other things. That idea brings into focus my reasons for selecting this year's goal and initiatives for the Society.

Our constantly changing profession, encompassing both the tangible and intangible, needs to stay revitalized through annual continuing education. Our clients expect architects to continuously strive to be current on topics of architectural problem solving. Those problem-solving skills and techniques can be applied to much more than just buildings; we must also contend with the impact of rapidly changing technology and communication. The expectations of our public and the shifting methods of project delivery are fluid situations that change much but do not change in one aspect: Clients expect us to know what to do and how to do it.

This Practice Annual is a tool that addresses the fundamentals of our organization. In this annual you will find who we are, how we are organized, what our goals are, and the architectural leaders of the state and in our schools and other related organizations.

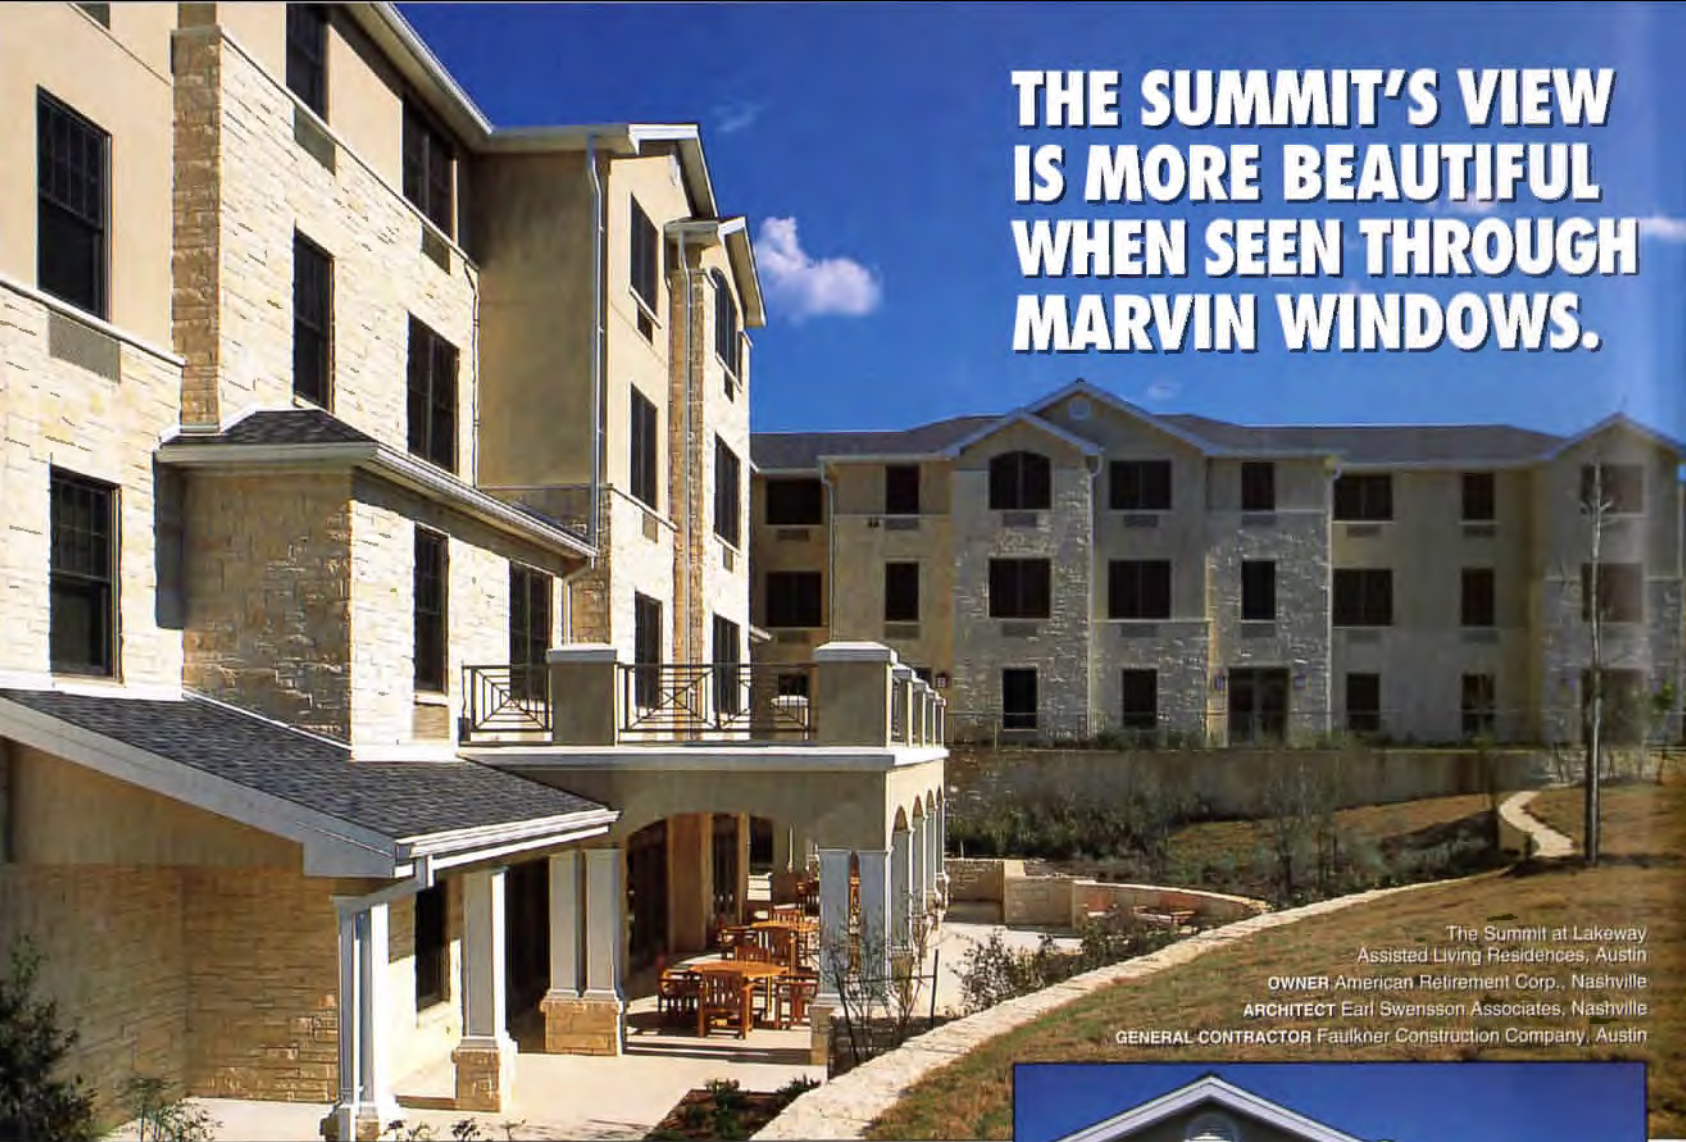

I hope you find this annual useful. If you can't find what you need, I hope you will call the TSA offices or me—my number is in here, too—and let us know how we can improve our publication.

Assisted Living Residences, Austin
OWNER American Retirement Corp., Nashville
ARCHITECT Earl Swenson Associates, Nashville
GENERAL CONTRACTOR Faulkner Construction Company, Austin

Built on a commanding hilltop in scenic Lakeway, the Summit assisted living center incorporates the warmth and quality of Marvin Windows. Arranged in vertical series of doors below and varied openings above, some with arched tops, Marvin's collection gives scale and character to the multistory building.

Custom beauty and performance are standard with Marvin. At Marvin Windows & Doors, every window and door is "made to order" to ensure highest quality and design flexibility. Our extensive line of standard shapes and sizes offers easy control of your budget, too!

Marvin's beauty is through and through. Long-lasting, durable performance—that's Marvin Windows! Beautifully made to order, one at a time!

"We used exterior-clad double-hung units with simulated divided lights to offer long-term low maintenance and residential character. The divided lights gave texture and scale to the project, while the clear bottom sash preserved the beautiful views."

— David Huffman, AIA, Project Architect

"To meet the project schedule, Marvin provided special straps to install the windows from the interior. This allowed for exterior finishes to be completed first, minimizing window damage during construction."

A Brief History of TSA

ARCHITECTURE AS A PROFESSION IN Texas dates from the 1880s, when the first professionally trained architects came to live and practice in the state. During the preceding period of the "master builders," there had been no attempts to set professional standards for education and experience in Texas, largely because architects who had passed through a recognized educational curriculum and apprenticeship were all but unknown in the state. Much has changed since the 1880s, but issues involving education, standards of professional practice and experience, and legal validation have continued to be central concerns.

The first professional organization of architects in Texas, the Texas State Association of Architects (TSAA), was formed in 1886. TSAA was affiliated with the Western Association of Architects, a Chicago-based rival to the older, East Coast-based American Institute of Architects (AIA). TSAA's goal was to "unite in one common fellowship the architects of Texas; to combine their efforts, so as to promote the artistic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; and to cultivate and encourage the kindred arts, and to correct unprofessional practices." Among the organization's first acts was to propose passage of a state law that would regulate the practice of architecture in Texas, creating a state licensing board and requiring that "[p]ersons desiring to pursue the occupation of architect should have to apply to the board and stand for examination."

TSAA and a number of successor organizations, including a Texas Chapter of the American Institute of Architects (formed in 1913), passed in and out of existence over the next several decades. All lobbied for passage of regulation of architecture by the state, arguing that protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the state's citizens required such regulation. The professional organizations also worked to pass laws granting architects liens to enforce payment of their fees and protecting architects from having their designs used without compensation.

Nevertheless, it was not until 1937 that the Texas Legislature passed a registration law for Texas architects, setting up the Texas Board of Architectural Examiners and requiring those entering the profession to pass a state examination. In later years, as architectural education developed in Texas and nationally, the requirements for obtaining Texas architectural registration became tougher, eventually specifying that candidates for licensure be graduates of accredited university architecture programs, and that they have several years of professional experience under the supervision of qualified practitioners. One thing the 1937 law did not do, however, was to regulate the practice of architecture: The state law prohibited those without licenses from using the title of architect, but left the legal right to sell architectural-design services open to anyone who wished to do so.

The modern era of the profession started in 1939, with the foundation of the Texas Society of Architects (TSA), first as an independent organization and later as a state-level component of the national AIA. Starting with 47 charter members, in 1997, after a long recovery from the slump of the 1970s and 1980s, the organization had just over 4,000 members organized in 17 regional chapters statewide, representing nearly half of the approximately 8,000 registered architects residing in Texas. The chapters are located in Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, College Station (Brazos Chapter), Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, McAllen (Lower Rio Grande Valley Chapter), Lubbock, Longview (Northeast Texas Chapter), San Antonio, Beaumont (Southeast Texas Chapter), Waco, Midland (West Texas Chapter), and Wichita Falls.

Since the creation of TSA, Texans have played a prominent role in AIA affairs. Texans John M. McGinty and Benjamin Brewer, Jr., have served as AIA presidents. William W. Caudill, founder of the influential Houston-based architectural firm Caudill, Rowlett & Scott, was awarded the institute's highest honor, the AIA Gold Medal, in 1984. Charles Moore, who had resided in Texas for the last decade of his life, won the AIA Gold Medal in 1994.

One of TSA's earliest goals was to convert the state law governing the practice of architecture from a title act to a true licensing act, which would limit the practice of architecture to those certified by the state as qualified to do so. With TSA working for this change nearly every session of the Legislature after 1939, it still took until 1989 for the measure to pass. Texas law now requires that a registered architect's seal be on the drawings for structures intended for public use that have more than 20,000 square feet in floor area. Lien laws and copyright protection have also been considerably strengthened over the years in Texas and nationally.

Architectural education in Texas started in 1904, when a department of architecture was founded at what would later become Texas A&M University. A department of architecture was created at the University of Texas in Austin in 1910. Other architecture schools were later developed at Rice University, the University of Houston, Texas Tech University, the University of Texas at Arlington, and Prairie View A&M University. All are accredited by the national Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture, and their graduates are eligible, after serving the required internship, to sit for the state's registration examination.

Cycles of urbanization and suburbanization, of social and technological change, and of economic prosperity have produced profound effects on architects, just as they have on others in society. Trained to bring skills in planning and team-building together with technical expertise and the aesthetic and social vision needed to create a well-functioning, pleasing built environment, architects will continue to develop their profession to serve the public.

Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct

ACCORDING TO Section 6: Professional Conduct of the Texas Society of Architects Bylaws, "All provisions of the Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct of the Institute shall apply to all members of the Society." The Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct provides members with reasonable guidelines for fulfilling their obligations to the public, to clients and users, to the building industry, and to the profession and their professional colleagues. The code is based on broad principles of conduct, and covers pertinent issues confronting the practitioner.

Preamble

MEMBERS OF The American Institute of Architects are dedicated to the highest standards of professionalism, integrity, and competence. This Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct states guidelines for the conduct of members in fulfilling those obligations. The Code is arranged in three tiers of statements: Canons, Ethical Standards, and Rules of Conduct.

Canons are broad principles of conduct. Ethical Standards (E.S.) are more specific goals toward which members should aspire in professional performance and behavior. Rules of Conduct are mandatory; violation of a rule is grounds for disciplinary action by the Institute. Rules of Conduct, in some instances, implement more than one Canon or Ethical Standard.

The Code applies to the professional activities of all classes of members, wherever they occur. It addresses responsibilities to the public, which the profession serves and enriches; to the clients and users of architecture and in the building industries, who help to shape the built environment; and to the art and science of architecture, that continuum of knowledge and creation which is the heritage and legacy of the profession.

Statement in Compliance with the 1990 Consent Decree: The following practices are not, in themselves, unethical, unprofessional, or contrary to any policy of The American Institute of Architects or any of its components:

1. submitting, at any time, competitive bids or price quotations, including, in circumstances where price is the sole or principal consideration in the selection of an architect;
2. providing discounts; or
3. providing free services.

Individual architects or architecture firms, acting alone and not on behalf of the Institute or any of its components, are free to decide for themselves whether or not to engage in any of these practices. The Consent Decree permits the Institute, its components, or members to advocate legislative or other government policies or actions relating to these practices. Finally, architects should continue to consult with state laws or regulations governing the practice of architecture.

Further Information

THE FOLLOWING includes the Canons and Ethical Standards; for more information, including the Rules applications (which determines enforcement) or commentary (not part of the Code, but meant to clarify or elaborate the intent of the Rule), call TSA at 512/478-7386, or view them online at www.tsaonline.org.

1999 TSA DESIGN AWARDS

45 YEARS CELEBRATING THE BEST OF TEXAS

CALL FOR ENTRIES

The TSA Design Awards Program seeks to recognize outstanding architectural projects by architects who practice in Texas and to promote public interest in architectural excellence.

ELIGIBILITY

Individuals or firms whose primary office is located in Texas may enter any number of projects anywhere in the world. Texas-registered architects located in another state may enter any number of projects located in Texas. Categories have the following requirements:

General Design (including adaptive-re-use), Interior Architecture or Restoration: Construction must have been completed after January 1, 1992.

Urban Design/Planning: The project must at least have an active client and some portion under construction.

25-Year Award: Any project completed on or before December 31, 1974.

RULES

Entries must be submitted by the design architect, who must have been registered with the Texas Board of Architectural Examiners at the time the project was executed. Where responsibility for a project is shared, the design architect must be a registered Texas architect and all participants who substantially contributed to the work must be credited.

Projects must be submitted in the name of the firm that executed the commission. If that firm has been dissolved or its name has been changed, an individual or successor firm may enter projects in the name of the firm in effect at the time the project was executed. Mul-iple entries of the same project by successor individuals or firms will not be accepted. For multi-building projects, the architect submitting the project (or portion thereof) must designate authorship of each portion of the project.

25-year award projects may be submitted by the original architect, original architecture firm, a successor to the original architecture firm, or by a component of the AIA.

AWARDS

Architects and clients of winning projects will be honored at the TSA Convention in Galveston, October 21-23, 1999.

Winning projects will be featured in the September/October 1999 issue of Texas Architect magazine and in the 1999 TSA Traveling Exhibit (winning entrants will be required to a fee to defray the cost of printing, publicity and production of the display. Display panels will be returned to winners after the course of the exhibit).

RETURN OF ENTRIES

Entries from firms in large cities will be returned to the local AIA chapter office and held for pick-up. Entries from firms located in cities without staffed chapters will be mailed individually to entrants via UPS ground or U.S. mail. Entries from Austin will be available for pick-up at the TSA offices. If you wish to have your carousel returned by other means, please attach instruction and an account number or check for additional cost.

1999 HONORS PROGRAM

Call for Nominations

Each year since 1971 the Texas Society of Architects has recognized individuals and organizations outside the profession of architecture who share its commitment to the quality of life in Texas. Accomplishments by past honorees have included roadside beautification; wildlife conservation; open-space protection; passage of laws protecting the public's health, safety, and welfare; downtown revitalization; preservation of historic buildings and sites; public-school programs emphasizing environmental concerns; museum programs and exhibits about community architecture; and reporting, publications, and articles promoting the appreciation of the built and natural environment.

In addition, the TSA Honors Program recognizes TSA's exceptional members in several categories and distinguished Texas architectural educators and writers for leadership and achievement.

Award Categories

1999 Presidential Award for Architects in Community Service

Please see announcement on page 40.

Honorary Membership

Awarded to an individual for long-term association with architects and architecture in providing a better quality of life in Texas.

Citation of Honor

Awarded to groups or organizations outside the profession whose activities make significant contributions to the goals of the architectural profession for improvement of the natural or built environment in Texas.

The 1999 Honors Committee has voted to expand the criteria for Citation of Honor to include individual artisans. The artisan nominee should show a collaborative nature in his or her contribution to projects.

Llewelyn W. Pitts Award

Awarded to recognize a TSA member for a lifetime of distinguished leadership and dedication in architecture.

TSA's highest honor, awarded in memory of Llewelyn W. Pitts, FAIA, who served as TSA president in 1961 and was an influential and dedicated AIA leader, recognizes a distinguished member for lifetime leadership and achievement in the profession of architecture and the community. Although no formal nominations are accepted, recommendations may be directed to the Honors Committee Chair.

Edward J. Romieniec Award

Awarded to recognize an individual architectural educator for outstanding educational contributions.

Awarded in memory of Edward J. Romieniec, FAIA, a former professor and dean of architecture at Texas A&M University and the first recipient of this award. Nominee must be a current or former member of the faculty of one of the seven accredited Texas schools or colleges of architecture, living at the time of nomination, and a full-time educator for at least five years. Criteria for selection will include evidence of the following: teaching of great breadth; influencing a wide range of students; and the ability to maintain relevance through the years by directing students toward the future while drawing on the past.

John G. Flowers Award

Awarded to recognize an individual or organization for excellence in the promotion of architecture through the media.

Awarded in memory of TSA's first executive vice president.

William W. Caudill Award

Awarded to recognize a TSA member for professional achievement in leadership development during the early years of AIA membership.

Awarded in memory of William W. Caudill, FAIA, recipient of the 1985 AIA Gold Medal and a pioneer of architectural design, practice, and leadership and service to the organization and community. Must be an architect member in good standing and an active member of the local AIA chapter for a minimum of two years (40 years of age is a recommended maximum for a nominee). The nominee should be a role model to the organization with these qualities: goes beyond the call of duty in service to the profession; influences improvement in the organization at the state level; encourages participation among fellow members and non-members; exemplifies qualities of leadership; and exemplifies qualities of professional practice.

Architecture Firm Award

Awarded to a TSA firm that has consistently produced distinguished architecture for a period of at least 10 years. The honors Committee will focus its evaluation on the quality of the firm's architecture and, secondarily, the firm's meritorious contributions to the profession and to the community.

Any TSA component may nominate one eligible firm. Firms practicing under the leadership of either a single principal or several principals are eligible for the award. In addition, firms that have been reorganized and whose name has been changed or modified are also eligible, as long as the firm has been in operation for a period of at least 10 years.

Nomination Procedures

Except for the Llewelyn W. Pitts Award, each nomination must be submitted through the local chapter and must be in an approved format. TSA will provide nomination forms and portfolio criteria to each local chapter. Additional copies may be obtained upon request.

Nominations for the Llewelyn W. Pitts Award may be made by any TSA member in the form of a letter addressed to the Chair of the TSA Honors Committee. No portfolio is to be submitted.

Selection and Notification

Recipients of all TSA Honors Awards are chosen by the members of the TSA Honors Committee in June of each year. Recipient names (with the exception of the Pitts Award) are ratified by a vote of the TSA Executive Committee at the summer meeting. Following the meeting, Honors Award recipients are notified of their selection and invited to the award ceremonies. The names of Honors Award recipients are published in Texas Architect.

Presentation

Awards will be presented during TSA's 60th Annual Convention and Exposition in Galveston, Texas, October 21-23, 1999.

Frank Welch & Associates

1 The Birthday, a small weekend retreat on a ranch in Sterling County, was designed by Frank Welch in 1965; in 1997, it won the Texas Society of Architects 25-Year Award for enduring design excellence.

All photographs on these pages by Hester + Hardaway, except Pinnacle Club by Charles Smith and Montague County Ranch House by Eric Rohlfing.

THE WINNER OF THE TEXAS SOCIETY of Architects 1998 Architecture Firm Award was Frank Welch & Associates of Dallas. The award, the highest honor the Society can bestow upon a firm, recognizes the production of distinguished architecture over a period of at least 10 years. The firm was established by Frank Welch, FAIA, as a one-man office in July 1959 in Odessa. Before starting his own practice, Welch worked for O'Neil Ford and Richard Colley, and considers Ford his mentor and inspiration.

Welch was a graduate of Sherman public schools and Texas A&M College, as well as a 1951-52 Fulbright Scholar in Paris, France. In 1960, he moved the office and his family from Odessa to Midland, 20 miles to the east, where significant work had developed. From the start, Welch was called to other Texas cities to design residences for clients who were familiar with Midland clients and/or their buildings. Midland's good air service facilitated a statewide practice that continues to this day along with periodic out-of-state commissions.

In Midland, Welch soon hired an intern and an experienced production person to help out with a new campus for a private school. Other interns joined the firm through the years and many went on to form their own practices or associations with larger firms. A partial list of former associates includes Barry Feldman, James Patterson, Alton Yowell, Thomas Upchurch, Wilson Fuqua, Mark Wellen, James Rhotenberry, Tim Gemmil, Lawrence Connolly, Jon Pankratz, Britt Medford, James Williamson, Kim Monroe, Kenneth Harbert, Ron Wommack, Patrick Murphy, and Christine Annexstad Ritter.

The name of the firm was changed to Frank Welch & Associates in the 1970s. The first TSA Design Award came in 1964, and since then Frank Welch & Associates has received 49 regional and chapter awards for design distinction. In 1984, the office was relocated to Dallas. The firm was a finalist in Los Angeles' Pershing Square competition in 1986. In 1997, Frank Welch & Associates received the TSA 25-Year Award for The Birthday, a small weekend shelter built on a West Texas ranch in 1965 (see TA, September/October 1997), an honor that the modest structure shared that year with the Kimbell Museum of Fort Worth.

As a practice, Frank Welch & Associates is noted for small-scale projects: single-family residences, multi-family housing, schools, recreation facilities, churches, and special commercial buildings, along with the occasional cultural facility.

Welch has written frequently for Texas Architect and was named a contributing editor to the magazine in 1998; his book Philip Johnson and Texas will be published by the University of Texas Press in 2000.

The AIA Continuing Education System FAQs

What is AIA/CES?

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS Continuing Education System (AIA/CES) is a continuing education system emphasizing learning that was developed by the AIA, which records professional learning as a mandatory requirement for architect membership. Lifelong professional learning is necessary for success in business. It enables the architect to keep current, master new knowledge and skills, plan for the future, and responsibly meet the role society entrusts to a professional.

The AIA/CES assists architects in maintaining their competence and in achieving their professional goals. In doing so, it has the potential to be one of the primary forces in the improvement and revitalization of the profession.

What is a Learning Unit?

THE AIA RECORDS continuing education credit as a Learning Unit (LU). An LU is calculated by multiplying the length of the educational program (contact hours) by the Quality Level (QL). An LU is not a CEU. A CEU is a continuing education credit measured only by the contact hour. A point one CEU (x1) is equal to one hour or one LU at QL 1. Once CEU is equal to ten hours or ten LUs at QL 1.

What is a quality level?

THE QUALITY LEVEL is a tool that the AIA uses to increase the actual learning that occurs during a program. The system has been designed as an incentive to the provider and the participant to increase the interaction that takes place and involve the participant in the learning. Members earn LUs not only based on the length of the program (seat time) but also based on its educational quality level. The three levels defined by the CES are as follows:

- Level 1 (passive) learning is any appropriate activity that has a professional purpose and professional resources, including, but certainly not limited to, reading, product analysis, and lecture attendance (50 minute minimum).
- Level 2 (interactive) learning includes Level 1 and provides significant opportunities for participants to interact with each other and the learning resources (example: roundtable discussion groups; 50 minute minimum).
- Level 3 includes Level 2 and incorporates measurements, and provides feedback concerning the learning progress of participants (two hour minimum).

Any combination of Level 1, 2, and 3 programs is valid to meet the 36 LU requirement (i.e., the 36 LUs may be achieved by 36 hours of Level 1 activities, 18 hours of Level 2, 12 hours of Level 3, or any combination in between).

How do Learning Units compare to Contact Hours?

BASED ON THE QUALITY LEVEL system used by the AIA/CES, participants can earn more "credit" for attending continuing education programs that are designed to increase the new knowledge gained by involving the participant in the learning process. Since LUs are calculated by multiplying the learning time (contact hour) by the Quality Level, a two-hour seminar designed at a Quality Level 1 earns AIA members two LUs, but a two-hour seminar designed at Quality Level 3 will earn six LUs. The state licensing boards base their requirements on the contact hour and the AIA/CES transcript reflects both the Contact Hours (length of a program) and the LUs earned. An AIA LU should never be referred to as a CEU (Continuing Education Unit). While the term CEU has become generic to many, it is a specific professional credit system that is not equivalent to AIA/CES LUs. (For example, 1.5 CEUs is equal to 15 contact hours, which at Quality Level 3 would be 10 LUs.)

How will quality be maintained?

QUALITY CONTROL is based on audit reviews of member and provider reports. Quality standards are based on a specific set of elements that research has shown to contribute to effective educational activities. During the review, program content will be matched to learning objectives. Reviewers look at the program content, the method of delivery, and the recording process. Subject matter experts are called upon to confirm program content.

What is required of AIA members?

ALL ACTIVE AIA MEMBERS (AIA or FAIA) must successfully complete the 36 LUs CES requirement, including eight hours of Health, Safety, Welfare (HSW) issues, for annual membership renewal. A member who fails to meet the annual requirement will be given nine months to remediate the deficient LUs and meet the current annual requirement of 36 LUs/8 hours HSW. A member who exceeds the annual requirement in a given year may carry up to 36 LUs (including eight hours of HSW) into the next year.

Exception: First-time members to the AIA are not required to complete the 36 LUs the year they first join. Associate and emeritus members are exempt but are encouraged to participate for their own benefit and that of the profession. Anyone with an active AIA membership number will receive a transcript if LUs are reported. IDP interns and nonmembers may also utilize the AIA recording keeping services.

What is the AIA/CES Reinstatement Policy?

THE AIA/CES REINSTATEMENT Policy takes effect on January 1, 1999, as approved by the AIA Board of Directors. The notice of nonrenewable status goes out March 31 of each year. Members who desire to reinstate must obtain and present evidence of 18 LUs prior to reinstatement. These must have been completed within at least a one-year time period of the date of renewal. The reinstated member must also obtain 36 LUs, including eight hours of HSW, for the current membership year that they are reapplying. Any LUs in a member's record will be dropped on termination due to noncompliance with the continuing education requirement. AIA reinstatement does not necessarily guarantee that it will meet state licensing requirements. Check with each state that you have a license in for specific state requirements.

What is the role of an AIA/CES Registered Provider?

AN AIA/CES REGISTERED provider is a company, manufacturer, organization, association, or group that has applied and met the criteria of the AIA/CES for offering quality educational programs to architects. Registered providers include all AIA chapters and components, AIA Professional Interest Areas (PIAs), the Construction Specifications Institute (CSI), the Society of Design Administrators (SDA), and the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA) chapters, affiliated industry associations and organizations, product manufacturers, schools of architecture, government agencies, and architecture firms (offering in-house training programs for their staff). Registered providers are responsible for developing quality educational programs based on the criteria and registering them with the AIA/CES. They are also responsible for reporting the attendance of the programs they offer. Architects who attend a registered provider program should expect to receive their learning units.

Companies or organizations interested in becoming an AIA/CES registered provider should contact the CES Manager at the AIA at 202/626-7356.

How are learning activities reported?

MEMBERS CAN EARN LUs by attending programs offered by AIA/CES registered providers or through self-reporting.

AIA/CES Registered Providers: Program descriptions reported by the providers are sent to the national recording AIA/CES center at the University of Oklahoma prior to the event. Upon the completion of the program, providers then verify and report the attendance of those AIA members participating in the event. Programs vary from chapter meetings to in-firm lunch programs to weekend conferences by manufacturers, universities, etc.

Self-Report Form: To qualify for self-reporting ask yourself: Is this a planned activity? Is this activity intended as educational or operational? Is this new knowledge for you or are you sharing it with others? To be eligible for credit the activity must be planned, educational, and new knowledge for you. And finally, how will you apply this new knowledge to your practice of architecture? AIA members should not have to self-report programs offered by CES registered providers.

Self-reported activities are reported two ways. 1) Self-designed activity: The learning activity is self-designed and frequently involves a combination of more than one type of medium or method such as reading, viewing videos, and using CD-ROMs. This method is not acceptable for HSW credit. (Recommended minimum of three hours.) 2) Structured self-reported program: This formal, organized, structured activity is offered by an organization other than an AIA/CES registered provider. Documentation of attendance/participation will often be required when reporting this activity as a state licensure requirement.

Both self-reported activity types are reported on an AIA/CES Self-Report Form (see page ??). Members calculate LUs for self-reported study by multiplying the number of hours spent in architecture-related learning by the quality level of the activity. Self-report forms are available on AIAOnline (www.aiaonline.com), from the AIA/CES office, or from your local AIA chapter.

Credit earned from self-reported activities may not count towards state licensing board mandatory continuing education requirements. Check with each state that you have a license in for specific state requirements.

How does HSW tie into CES?

THE AIA/CES REQUIREMENT states that eight contact hours of the basic LU requirement are earned in the area of health, safety, and welfare, which is defined as those issues addressed by the Architecture Registration Examination (ARE). The HSW requirement is based on the contact hour to comply with the format that most of the state licensing boards are requiring HSW credits.

To qualify for HSW credit, a program must meet the following criteria. An HSW program must pertain to one of the following subject areas: planning and pre-design; site design; building design, including interior architecture; structural elements of the practice of architecture; mechanical elements of the practice of architecture; electrical elements of the practice of architecture; plumbing elements of the practice of architecture; construction materials and methods; and construction documents. Health, safety, and welfare in architecture are hereafter defined as anything that related to the structure or soundness of a building site. This requirement is based on states having the power to grant professional licensure as a means of protecting the life, safety, and welfare of the public.

What is the relation between AIA/CES and state Mandatory Continuing Education (MCE) requirements?

EACH STATE HAS THE LEGAL RIGHT to establish its own guidelines and requirements. Currently, Texas has MCE-enabling legislation in place that has not been implemented. The good news is that so far most states have similar requirements, and all of the states indicate that they will accept most AIA/CES educational activities for completion of valid continuing education credit. Also, several states accept the AIA/CES transcripts as evidence of documentation for MCE. The AIA strongly suggests, however, that members keep backup documen-tion to support claims. The AIA or the state licensing boards may require you to show evidence if an audit is called.

Most states require eight contact hours of HSW for their MCE. The AIA requires eight contact hours of HSW from structured programs and reports this in the contact hour format. Some states allow some forms of self-reporting. Due to the quality assurance issues posed by the states, the AIA does not accept self-designed reporting for HSW credit.

How are records kept and how may they be accessed?

The AIA/CES HAS INCORPORATED an automated record-keeping and transcript service provided under contract by the College of Continuing Education at the University of Oklahoma:

The University of Oklahoma
Continuing Education, AIA/CES Room B-1
1700 Asp Avenue
Norman, Okla. 7307
800/605-8229, 405/325-6965 fax

Services include maintenance of individual members' continuing education activities and information support about CES for members and providers. Transcripts will be mailed each March to AIA members with CES activities during the previous year.

Individual transcript records are now posted on AIAOnline (www.e.architect.com/continuing-education), found under "Check Your Transcript" and available to each member by using his or her member number. In lieu of AIAOnline, additional hard copies of the transcript can be faxed or mailed to a member for $60 per copy.

How else can AIAOnline help with CES?

THE AIA'S WEBSITE provides information about registered providers and continuing education programs.

CES Transcripts: AIA members can review their transcripts at any time.

Mandatory Continuing Education (MCE) Requirements: Find current information about state MCE requirements, regular updates about continuing education issues, and hotlinks to states' home pages whose licensing boards require MCE.

CES Programs: A national database of AIA/CES registered provider educational programs searchable by date, title, location, or ongoing appointment. Check it out often since new programs are added daily.

Provider Info: A list of AIA/CES registered providers and who to contact for information on the educational programs they offer.

CES Questions: A quick resource for the most frequently asked questions about AIA/CES.

CES Forms: Location of the AIA/CES template forms including the Self-Reporting Form.

Self Study: Information about online courses on the Internet, distance learning products available, and access to the updated Learning Sources Catalog.

Where can I get help?

ASSISTANCE MAY BE OBTAINED from both the national AIA and your local chapter. Information is available from FIA by calling 512/478-7386, faxing 512/478-0528, or writing 816 Congress Avenue #970, Austin, 78701; or through the TSA website at www.tsaonline.org. The AIA has established a hotline (202/879-3080) to provide a source of information and respond with requested materials and forms. Information is also available on the AIA website (www.e.architect.com) or by fax to 402.616.7399.

Texas AIA/CES Providers

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS, the Texas Society of Architects, and each of the 17 local Texas chapters are AIA/CES registered providers. In addition, several non-profit/trade associations, engineering firms, and many of the local chapters of affiliated organizations, including the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA), the Construction Specifications Institute (CSI), the Society of Marketing Professional Services (SMPS), the Society of Design Administration (SDA), the Architectural Institute of British Columbia (AIBC), the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada (RAIC), and the Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) are registered providers. (Check with your local chapter for a comprehensive list).

The following is a non-comprehensive list of additional registered providers in Texas, current as of January 15, 1999. For more information, call TSA at 512/478-7386, or look at the AIA website at www.e.architect.com <Continuing Ed> <Provider Info>.

Schools of Architecture in Texas

IN TEXAS, there are seven schools of architecture accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). The NAAB evaluates and recommends educational programs for the basic satisfaction of the most current conditions for accreditation; it accredits the professional programs within schools, not the schools themselves, with an "achievement-oriented performance criteria."

The mission of the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS) is "to promote excellence in architectural education, training, and practice; to foster an appreciation of architecture and related disciplines; and to organize architecture students and combine their efforts to advance the art and science of architecture." The AIAS is an independent, non-profit organization, founded in 1956 and headquartered in the AIA Building in Washington, DC. It represents student opinions on the Boards of the various organizations that govern the discipline of architecture, and has a chapter at each of the Texas schools of architecture.

Following are short descriptions of each school.

Graduate: The graduate programs have three areas of emphasis: architectural design, with particular attention paid to history, theory, and practice; urban design, where the concern is the emerging form of the American city; and research in computer visualization that uses the resources of the state-of-the-art Rice Advanced Visualization Lab.

Program description: The department's mission is to develop and disseminate knowledge about architecture and design, in keeping with the traditional concept of teaching, research, and service in a land-grant university. The faculty have made a commitment to build on their diverse experiences and backgrounds and to work together to establish a climate in which scholarship and creativity can flourish. The department endeavors to nurture and expand the synergistic relationships among the faculty, the various academic curricula, the resources of the college, the university, and the architecture and design professions. The faculty believe in a cohesive educational program, with the design studios serving as the central component in the analysis and synthesis of ideas, and the application of techniques and technologies. There is a commitment to pursue the development of a process and a philosophy as well as a product. This demands a rigorous and disciplined approach and the encouragement of individual exploration based on agreed upon and well-defined objectives and standards of evaluation.

Program description: The School of Architecture is sizable enough to be a dynamic architectural academy, yet remains small enough to permit intensive interaction among students and faculty. As one of the smallest of the 14 schools and colleges of UT-Austin, which enrolls 49,000 students, the school benefits from its small-school atmosphere in the center of the vast resources of a major university. The school's restricted enrollment mandates that 90 percent of the undergraduate enrollment be Texas residents although 50 percent of the graduate students in architecture are from out of state. The school employs up to 41 graduate students per semester as teaching assistants. The faculty is a diverse group of backgrounds emphasizing a pluralistic approach to the discipline of architecture.

THE TEXAS ARCHITECTURAL FOUNDATION (TAF) was established on June 4, 1952, based upon the application presented by the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Texas Society of Architects and the issuance of an official Charter by the Secretary of State of Texas for a period of 50 years.

Since 1952, through the generosity of many individuals, corporations, and interested groups in and out of the profession, TAF has enjoyed steady growth in its financial position and has been successfully fulfilling its purposes. However, the opportunities to fulfill the potential and to meet the need for service in architectural education are still far beyond the capabilities of TAF to achieve, and it is hoped that the continuing and expanding interest of the architectural profession and its friends in Texas will assist TAF financially in a continually increasing manner toward the accomplishment of its goals.

Funding

THE LONG-ESTABLISHED GOAL to obtain a minimum capital asset value of $100,000 prior to the provision of scholarships and grants from other than income earned from capital assets was attained in 1973.

The trustees suggest and encourage the following methods as vehicles for the expansion of the foundation's assets:

1. By memorial gifts to TAF from architects and interested individuals, groups, or corporations in memory of deceased friends, or in commemoration of outstanding events or persons. Such memorial gifts are permanently recorded in the records of TAF and appropriately worded notification of such memorial or commemorative gifts is forwarded by TAF to families of those so honored.

2. By bequest in the wills of architects and other interested persons.

3. By regular contributions from architects, AIA chapters, and other interested persons and organizations.

4. By endowments by architectural firms, businesses, industry, and interested foundations.

5. In addition, a number of special designated gifts and grants from individuals, corporations, and foundations are regularly accepted and administered by TAF according to the wishes or detailed instructions that are dictated by the donors.

Gifts and grants to TAF have been approved by the Internal Revenue Service as non-taxable donations when calculating personal or corporate income tax. The Internal Revenue Service also has ruled that non-profit foundations may properly make gifts to TAF.

Eligibility

ACCORDING TO THE CRITERIA established by each donor, TAF scholarships are awarded to undergraduate, graduate, or post-graduate students in the accredited departments or schools of architecture in Texas. All applications for TAF scholarships are made through the office of the dean. All awards, scholarships, and grants are made in accordance with the policies adopted by the Board of Trustees of TAF.

Texas Architects Committee (TAC) is a non-profit and unincorporated political action organization of Texas architects. The purpose of TAC is to promote the interest of the registered architects in Texas and to raise funds for this purpose, and from such funds to make campaign contributions to those seeking election or re-election to political offices. Contributions are made without regard to party affiliation to those candidates who are believed to be deserving of such support.

TAC reports to the Texas Ethics Commission. TSA's Executive Vice President, David Lancaster, serves as TAC Campaign Treasurer. The management of TAC is vested in six Executive Trustees elected by the board of directors of Texas Society of Architects. Executive Trustees coordinate the campaign to raise funds for TAC and determine the political candidates who receive TAC contributions.

Depending on the number of chapter members, each chapter is represented in TAC by one to four Advisory Trustees. Responsibilities of Advisory Trustees include coordinating TAC fundraising within the chapters, providing Executive Trustees with an assessment of candidates for public office from chapter areas, assisting with delivery of TAC contributions to political candidates, and attending TAC Executive Trustee and Advisory Trustee meetings.

During the legislative campaigns, TAC delivers contributions to selected candidates and gives them information about issues affecting the practice of architecture in Texas. These include: architectural barriers reform; professional services tax; qualifications based selection; contract negotiations with state agencies; and statewide building code.

Every year, each of the seventeen chapters sets a contribution goal; the total of these goals is TAC's overall contribution goal. In 1998, TAC achieved 87 percent of its contribution goal, receiving $42,662

THE MISSION OF THE Texas Board of Architectural Examiners (TBAE), created in 1937, is to protect the public's life, health, safety, welfare, and property through the safeguarding against the unauthorized practice of architecture and unauthorized use of the titles "architect," "landscape architect," and "interior designer." TBAE, a member of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB), is empowered by the Architects Registration Law ("The Regulation of the Practice of Architecture," Article 249 (a)(c)(e), VTCS) to regulate the practice of the three disciplines, including examination, registration, education, and enforcement. TBAE also has authority to revoke or suspend registration or to take legal or disciplinary action for violation of statutory provisions. In Texas, statutes require that all architects desiring to continue their practice must register annually with TBAE and pay an annual renewal fee of $268 (in-state). TBAE may revoke an architect's registration for failure to register annually.

The TBAE Board governs the agency; board members, including four architects, one landscape architect, one interior designer, and three public members, with at least one having a physical disability, are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Board members serve staggered terms of six years, with three members' terms expiring January 31 of each odd-numbered year.

For architects, TBAE administers the computer-based Architect Registration Examination (ARE), developed jointly by the NCARB and the Committee of Canadian Architectural Councils as the required examination for architectural registration. The ARE examines knowledge, skills, and ability to provide various services required in the design and construction of buildings. It is administered all year at 15 testing centers located throughout the state to candidates who have met the prerequisite requirements. Candidates successfully passing all parts of the exam are then eligible for registration.

To qualify to take the ARE in Texas, a candidate must: provide proof of any combination of acceptable schooling and/or experience totaling eight years; and show evidence of having satisfactorily completed the requirements of the Intern Development Program (IDP), except 1) applicants who have acquired eight years of credible education and/or experience prior to January 1, 1984; and 2) reciprocal applicants who have a minimum of three years of acceptable practice experience following registration in accordance with the Texas Table of Equivalents. Candidates pay a one-time application fee of $210 to TBAE for evaluating their file and entering the data into the TBAE database. Fees for each portion of the ARE are paid each time a division of it is taken. Sections and costs are: Pre-Design: $92; Site Planning: $129; Building Planning: $155; Building Technology: $145; General Structures: $108; Lateral Forces: $79; Mechanical and Electrical: $83; Materials and Methods: $90; Construction Documents: $99.

Questions relative to the ARE, NCARB, the IDP, architectural registration and practice, the architect's seal, and violations of applicable laws should be referred to TBAE, which can be reached at 512/305-9000.

The following information is adapted from Administrative and Operations Guide for TSA Disaster Action, Inc. (revised May 1, 1980).

TSA DISASTER ACTION, INC., is a nonprofit corporation formed in July 1971. It was created as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Texas Society of Architects (TSA) to provide a tax-free mechanism through which the design professions and other allied groups could respond quickly and effectively to the restoration needs of the people of any community in Texas when their living and working shelters are ravaged by a disaster. The idea was conceived by members of TSA as a result of the growing concern that disaster restoration should be more effective and should improve living conditions over those that existed prior to the disaster.

There are two general categories of disasters: those that result from natural causes, such as storms, and those caused by the carelessness and indifference of humans, such as pollution.

Administration

The unusual nature of TSA Disaster Action, Inc., necessitates good administration and efficient operations. Disasters of the type and magnitude that the Corporation is intended to respond to occur in Texas approximately every three years. This implies that the mechanics of the Corporation will be dormant most of the time; for this reason every participant, president, or volunteer must be familiar with its structure and operational procedures.

Organization

The organization was structured for simple operations and administration.

The Corporation's Board of Directors is made up of the members of the TSA Executive Committee; terms run concurrently with Executive Committee terms and their election is automatic on the first of each calendar year. This structure accomplishes several things: 1) ensuring the continuity of the intent and policies of the Corporation; 2) eliminating the need for separate elections; 3) simplifying procedures; and 4) allowing the routine business matters of the Corporation to be handled at regular TSA Executive Committee meetings.

The Disaster Action Committee is appointed by the TSA President each year. Committee members are selected from the TSA membership, drawing on those with disaster-recovery experience or training. The Committee currently consists of a chair and eight members.

Liaison to the Disaster Action Committee consists of a member from each AIA chapter in the region, appointed each year by the chapter presidents. The liaison appointee should be interested in Disaster Action activities and should be in a position to encourage members of the chapter and of other professions in the community to volunteer for service.

The Disaster Action Team is composed entirely of volunteers who can disengage themselves from their normal responsibilities to serve on the team in a disaster area. Members are principally drawn from the design professions, but teams may include others who can assist the Corporation in its commitment to providing professional guidance to the victims in a disaster area. Architecture students have served very effectively in the past and should always be considered as potential team members, but only with the approval of academic authorities.

Corporation Office

The Corporation Office is the control center for all state-level administrative and operations matters. It is located in the same quarters as TSA. The address is: 816 Congress Avenue #970, Austin 78701, 512/478-7386.

Functions

The Corporation Bylaws, quoted in part as follows, define the general functions of the Board of Directors.

They are: establishing managerial and operational policies and procedures for the Corporation and basic organizational and procedural guidelines for the volunteer disaster-action team; attending the Annual Meeting and any specially called meetings; preparing and approving the Corporation's annual report; promoting and accepting donations to the Corporation; complying with the requirements of the Texas non-profit-corporation law; submitting the report required by the Internal Revenue Service annually or as required; advising the President or Secretary regarding the commitment of Corporation resources in a Disaster Action operation; advising and assisting in the establishment of a long-term rehabilitation operation (CDC type) when it is the extension of a Disaster Action operation; controlling the use and revisions of the Administration and Operations Guide; approving and paying administrative and operations expenses; and promoting the interest and enthusiasm of the TSA membership in the Corporation's purposes and activities.

The Disaster Action Committee will be responsible to the Board of Directors of the Corporation for performing the following functions: acting as a continuing research-and-study resource for the administration, operations, and funding of the Corporation; establishing and updating each year a "Roster of Disaster Action Volunteers," from which team members, including team leaders, can be drawn; communicating with the committee's liaison representative in each chapter for the promotion of interest in Disaster Action work and for the solicitation of candidates for the "Roster of Disaster Action Volunteers"; and assisting in selecting a Disaster Action team if requested by the Corporation.

Individual members of the committee, when available and when requested by the Corporation office, will respond to the following tasks on short notice: visit a disaster area and provide the Corporation office with an appraisal of the situation when the information cannot be obtained otherwise; serve as Disaster Action team leader; and spend a day or two in the disaster area assisting another team leader in setting up a Disaster Action operation.

The Disaster Action Team members will perform such functions as follows: contacting team leaders as soon as they arrive in the disaster area; assisting in setting up the operations office in the disaster area; performing damage surveys of homes and buildings; assisting in instructing less-experienced team members; assisting in communicating with relief agencies; and assisting in setting up a longer-term rehabilitation and planning operation if so directed by management.

The Chapter Liaison to the Disaster Action Committee will have the following functions: acquaint his or her home chapter with TSA Disaster Action, Inc., and interest members in its purposes; and assist the Disaster Action Committee in finding people to act as volunteers.

The chapter liaison must be thoroughly acquainted with the Administration and Operations Guide to accomplish these functions.

The Corporation office, in addition to handling the routine business of the Corporation, will facilitate various Disaster Action operations. The Corporation office will: have available during office hours the Corporation Executive Vice President or his assistants, who can initiate early Disaster Action activities; issue all decisions pertaining to committing a Disaster Action team into operation, terminating a Disaster Action operation, extending a Disaster Action operation to a long-range rehabilitation and planning operation, and legal involvement; be the communications clearing house between the Disaster Action base of operations and AIA chapters, to relay personnel needs and team news; provide central control of the Disaster Action operation, communications between the Disaster Action team and higher agencies, and logistical and supply support for the team; and communicate as needed with state and national relief agencies.

Introduction

Each of the committees of the Texas Society of Architects falls into one of five commissions. The vice presidents and the past president serve as commissioners whose purpose is to maintain communication with committee chairpersons and assist them whenever necessary. Terms of committee chairs coincide with the calendar year; however, organizational work for the next year often begins at the Committee Orientation held during TSA's annual convention.

Task forces are formed to address a particular issue, and as such, are usually limited to the time necessary to resolve the issues being addressed. (These guidelines pertain to task forces, as well as committees; all references to "committees" include both groups.)

A. General

1. Read TSA bylaws in Texas Architect Practice Annual concerning committees.
2. Become familiar with other committees that might overlap or share common interests.
3. Be careful in dealing with the public or media; leave this to the president and executive vice president. Report any requests for information from outside the membership.

B. Committee Structure

1. Chairpersons should select committee members (average committee size 5-8 members) who have an interest and are willing to serve on the committee. TSA may assign additional members.
2. All TSA members will be sent a Committee Interest Survey. Responses will be sent by the staff to the appropriate committee chairpersons, who will add respondents to their committees.
3. Committee chairpersons should select members with the following qualifications, as well as others, in mind:
 - expertise in committee subject;
 - geographical representation on committee where possible;
 - variation in size and types of firms, as well as other factors;
 - involvement of at least one member who has not participated in a TSA committee before;
 - involvement of one associate member, if possible;
 - enthusiasm and interest, along with experience, as criteria for selection.
4. If a member does not participate on a regular basis, the member should be removed by the chair, by letter with copy to commissioner.

C. Resources

1. Each committee and task force is assigned a member of the TSA staff as a liaison to assist the chairperson. Please contact your staff liaison to:
 - a) help identify reports, other committee activities, etc., that might have an impact on committee efforts;
 - b) help identify prospective committee members;
 - c) help identify TSA members with special qualifications or resources that might be helpful to committee effort.
2. American Institute of Architects
 - a) chairpersons should communicate with chairpersons of parallel national committees to take advantage of efforts on national level;
 - b) through National AIA Directors, TSA staff, etc., chairpersons should determine if any local chapters have efforts that have parallel interests.

D. Goals

1. During the first committee meeting, the functions of the committee should be discussed in detail.
2. With questions regarding specific functions of the committee addressed, the committee should then identify and establish goals. In setting these goals, the committee should bear in mind that:
 - a) stating the goal in positive language using strong, active verbs reduces the opportunity for misunderstanding;
 - b) articulating the objectives and recognizing changes and events within the overall plan enable the committee to pinpoint tangible progress en route to the desired goal(s);
 - c) setting realistic goals (with results that are tangible and visible) is preferable to setting abstract goals (whose purposes are ambiguous and vague) because realistic goals encourage success;
 - d) defining goals clearly will lead to perceptible results that are easier to evaluate.

E. Reporting/Communication

1. Six weeks prior to each board meeting, committee chairpersons will receive a request to submit a report for posting on the TSA website and distribution to the board. Timely reporting will guarantee that the report is included in the board mailing (approximately two weeks prior to the meeting.)

2. Communication of committee efforts to members is extremely important. Discuss any issues or efforts of potential interest to membership with staff, or contact your commissioner. The reason for forming an organization such as TSA is to share information about mutual professional interests. Please keep TSA informed of any activities you think may benefit the membership; this information may be reported in CheckSet.

F. Expenses

1. In general, committee and task force members are not reimbursed for expenses associated with their meetings or activities, such as travel or out-of-pocket expenses (including office, telephone, postage, stationery). However, if your committee is planning a special project, you may submit a request for funds to be included in next year's budget. Requests are due on March 15 for the following fiscal year, which begins on September 1, and should follow the guidelines listed in item two, below.
2. Send your request to TSA. A request for funds should be in a letter addressed to the TSA President and should include: (a) a description of the activity/project; (b) specific goal(s)/need(s) that would be met; (c) anticipated benefits to the general membership and/or public; (d) the month(s) during which the requested funds would be expended.

G. Scheduling

1. Meetings should be held at least four times during the year or as appropriate for tasks (goals) selected. Committees should begin immediately after appointment and the chairpersons should work toward achieving goals by the third quarter of the year. (Historically, the most productive work is performed in the first part of the year.)
2. Committee chairpersons are responsible for arranging meetings and notifying members. Meetings should be scheduled to allow all committee members to attend without undue penalty for geographical location. We encourage you to hold your meetings in the TSA headquarters' conference room (Austin) and at TSA board meetings (usually in a hotel with meeting rooms available). These rooms must be requested through TSA for scheduling.

H. Task Forces

The above guidelines apply to committees and task forces, with appropriate modifications.

It may not be pretty yet, but with Tyvek® CommercialWrap™, this project is already the best-dressed in its neighborhood.

The wrap that protects more and more of the best-built homes in Texas is now your best choice for protecting commercial buildings, too. Tyvek® CommercialWrap™ installs quickly and easily and provides exceptional moisture management and protection, keeping air and bulk water out while allowing moisture vapor to breathe through.

Tyvek® CommercialWrap™ is the premier wrap in the DuPont Tyvek® Weatherization System. Its spunbonded polyolefin resists air and water penetration with its non-perforated continuous microfiber web, which has microscopic pores large enough for moisture vapor to pass through, but small enough to resist air and liquid water.

Designed for the rigors of commercial building, Tyvek® CommercialWrap™ is heavier and more durable, with higher air and water resistance than other Tyvek® wraps, to provide extra protection and installation ease in commercial construction.

Specify Tyvek® CommercialWrap™. Because when your reputation's on the line, you can't afford not to have the job done right. For more information, or to speak with a DuPont Tyvek® Specialist, call 1 800-28-TYVEK® (1 800-288-9835).

Tyvek® CommercialWrap™ Performance Counts:

- Protects installed R-value in 9mph wind
- Superior moisture vapor transmission
- Double or better water holdout
- 50%-plus increase in wind load resistance
